BILL TERRY is a retired CBC executive. He is the author of Blue Heaven: Encounters with the Blue Poppy and Beyond Beauty: Hunting the Wild Blue Poppy. He is much in demand as a speaker on Asiatic poppies (Meconopsis) as well as other horticultural and botanical topics. Since 1994, he has lived on British Columbia's Sunshine Coast with his wife, Rosemary Bates, pursuing a lifelong ambition to create the perfect garden. His collection of Asiatic poppies is the most diverse in North America. Please visit meconopsis.ca.

Born in Toronto, ROSEMARY BATES worked as a print journalist in Regina and Winnipeg. She later worked for the CBC in Winnipeg and Toronto and became a producer for their current affairs and arts programs, including The Arts Report and The Arts Tonight. Since moving to the Sunshine Coast, she has pursued activities that indulge her fondness for words, music, food, and plants. As co-author of Beauty by Design, she joins her husband, Bill Terry, in writing the stories of passionate gardeners.

In this treasure trove of ideas, eleven inspired artists of the garden share their stories, their secrets, and their passion for gardening. Landscape is the canvas. Foliage, flowers, rocks, water, and other bounties of nature are the materials. With plants, objects, art, and artifice, they create magical spaces, engage our senses, and summon forth pure delight.

Accompanied by breathtaking photographs, these gardeners and their stories will inspire all who love to paint with plants as well as offer enchantment for seasoned gardeners and beginners alike. You will never look at a garden the same way again.
